

Early Access Pass - Terms & Conditions

The Early Access Pass gives customers advance access to book official Men's Rugby World Cup 2027 travel packages with Killester Travel before general sale.

What the Early Access Pass Includes

- An opportunity to book from our Rugby World Cup 2027 packages before they are released to the public
- A personal booking link and unique access code
- The €200 Early Access Pass fee will be credited against your booking deposit when you proceed with a Rugby World Cup 2027 travel package

Early Access Pass Fee

- The Early Access Pass costs €200 per person
- An Early Access Pass is required for each traveller wishing to book during the advance access period

Important Information

- Purchasing an Early Access Pass does not guarantee a specific package, match, or price, and all packages remain subject to availability
- The Early Access Pass is not a travel product and is not financially protected under any travel protection scheme
- The Early Access Pass does not oblige you to book a Rugby World Cup 2027 package

Using Your Early Access Pass

- When advance booking opens, you will receive instructions on how and when to use your access code
- Your Early Access Pass value can be redeemed once only, against one Rugby World Cup 2027 travel package
- If you do not proceed with a booking, your Early Access Pass will expire and no further entitlement will apply

Refunds

- The Early Access Pass is refundable until it is redeemed against a Rugby World Cup 2027 travel package
- Once redeemed, the €200 Early Access Pass fee becomes part of your booking deposit and will be subject to the package's booking terms and conditions

General

- All Rugby World Cup 2027 travel packages will be sold on a first come, first served basis
- Killester Travel reserves the right to withdraw or amend the Early Access Pass offering at any time prior to booking
- Full booking terms and conditions will apply once a Rugby World Cup 2027 package is purchased
